The Rights of Woman.

The rights of woman, what are they?
The right to labor, love and pray;
The right to weep with those that weep,
The right to wake when others sleep.

The right to dry the falling tear,
The right to quell the rising fear;
The right to smooth the brow of care,
And whisper comfort to despair.

The right to watch the parting breath,
To soothe and cheer the bed of death:
The right, when earthly hopes all fail,
To point to that within the veil.

The right the wanderer to reclaim,
And win the lost from paths of shame,
The right to comfort and to bless
The widow and the fatherless.

The right the little ones to guide
In simple faith to Him who died;
With earnest love and gentle praise
To bless and cheer their youthful days.

The right the intellect to train,
And guide the soul to noble aim;
Teach it to rise above earth's toys,
And wing its flight for heavenly joys.

The right to live for those we love,
The right to die that love to prove;
The right to brighten earthly homes
With pleasant smiles and gentle tones.

Are these thy rights? Then use them well
Thy silent influence none can tell.
If these are thine, why ask for more?
Thou hast enough to answer for.

Are these thy rights? Then murmur not
That woman's mission is thy lot:
Improve the talent God has given,
Life's duty done, thy rest in Heaven.

The Last Night of the Session.

The National Intelligencer gives the following graphic account of the dignified proceedings in the House of Representatives on Friday night: "After midnight in the all-night session of Friday and Saturday, a wild scene was presented in the House. During the earlier hours of Friday night, the customary feasts had been prepared by various subordinate officers. In the rooms of the Postmaster and Doorkeeper extensive hospitalities had been displayed—lavish lunches, with every desirable potable with which to wash down the charming viands. Such good cheer had evidently put the House in a good humor, and for several hours perpetrating practical jokes, introducing ridiculous resolutions, making funny motions, pelting one another with paper balls, tickling the nostrils of unconscious sleepers, and playing all sorts of pranks peculiar to school boys on the eve of a holiday, were the order of the night. Even voting by tellers was turned into a joke, the members passing in squads so as to defy a count, some of them passing six or seven times upon the same motion, and voting indifferently on both sides as often as possible.

"At one time the hall had the appearance of a vast restaurant and lodging-house. A distinguished member from Ohio, and another from New York, were complacently devouring an early breakfast spread in grand array upon their respective desks. A military member from New Hampshire had dropped his head upon his knees and made the hall resound with stentorian sounds. Others were reclining in their chairs or spread over their desks fast locked in the embrace of Morpheus. The sofas were all occupied. Radicals and Copperheads for the time forgot all differences and were curiously intermingled, some laid out like bodies at the Morgue, some gracefully disposed in easy attitudes, and others doubled up like victims of a severe cramp-colic. The scene was truly ludicrous, but good humor prevailed, and all business was persistently voted down, except the reports of the conference committees, the presentation of which was the signal for arousing the slumbering heroes of the House long enough to vote."

THE NEW INSIGNIA OF RANK FOR GENERAL GRANT.—The exalted rank of General having been recently bestowed upon General Grant, and General Sherman promoted to the vacant Lieutenant-General ship, there is considerable curiosity evinced to know what insignia of rank will be adopted by the former, as, in accordance with the army regulations, the Lieutenant-General is entitled to a trio of stars on each shoulder, while no uniform is specified for General. At a recent informal meeting of General Grant's staff and several prominent officers of the regular army, the subject of the General's insignia was discussed, when all present concurred in the opinion that a metallic shield substituted for the largest star in the shoulder strap would be an appropriate and handsome device to indicate the rank of the chief commanding officer of the armies of the United States. General Grant expressed himself pleased with the design, which will probably be adopted.—National Republican.

A War Incident.

A ballet dancer at Venice, while dancing at the theater there, had a bouquet thrown to her, tied with a ribbon in the Italian colors. She immediately kissed the ribbon, which created immense enthusiasm among the audience.—After the performance she was called to the police office, and sharply reprimanded for this act of patriotism. She excused herself by saying that in kissing the bouquet she had only followed the universal custom on such occasions, but the authorities would not accept this excuse, and told her that at another time she should not kiss the bouquet, but tread it under foot. The following evening, another bouquet was thrown, and the dancer, in compliance with her instructions, trod it under foot, again amid frantic applause. The ribbon round the bouquet was, however, this time not red, green and white ribbon, but black and yellow—the colors of Austria.

Oliver Wendell Holmes sent two poetical letters to the "postoffice" of an Episcopal fair at Pittsfield. In one of them the first stanza was:

"Fair lady whoseo'er thou art.
Turn this poor leaf with tenderest care,
And—hush, O, hush thy beating heart—
The one thou lovest will be there!"

On turning the "poor leaf" there was found a one dollar bill, with some verses beginning:

"Fair lady, lift thine eyes and tell
If this is not a truthful letter;
This is the one (1) thou lovest well,
And nought (0) can make the love the better (10)."

"Sadown," the field of the Austrians defeat, is pronounced sad hour by some people, and mispronounced sadder way by others.

FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, AS IT IS, AND THE UNION AS IT WAS.
NO FURTHER AMENDMENTS.

FOR GOVERNOR,
JONATHAN WORTH, OF RANDOLPH.

THE RADICAL organ in this city says there is a class of men in our midst "who are deriding and insulting the President." That is so, and that class of men is to be found exclusively among the Standard sympathizers. In the very issue of the paper, in which occurs this charge, there is published a communication, unaccompanied by a single word of comment, which contains such "insulting" allusions to the President as the following:

"While I do not desire to make war upon the President, no well-informed person will deny but his whole proceeding in the matter of restoration, without authority from, and the co-operation of Congress, was a usurpation not warranted by the Constitution; and his war upon and defiance of the Legislative branch of the government has lost him the confidence and respect of the loyal masses who fought the battles of the Union, and, in fact, of loyal men everywhere."

"Had Andrew Johnson adhered to the principles of the party that elected him, and not exhibited such zeal in behalf of those who had labored for four years to destroy the government, he would have been the idol of loyal millions, and might have been their choice for the Chief Magistracy of the nation; but he has so completely Tylerized himself that either General Lee or Jeff Davis would get about as large a vote in the Northern States as he could."

"Any attempt by any Cromwell, to force the members elect from Southern States upon Congress upon other terms than that body may impose, would bring a half million bayonets to the Capitol in thirty days."

The italics are our own. While the Standard is terribly exercised and indignant at the idea advanced in some quarters that the legislation of the late Convention was the result of "usurpation," on the part of the President, we here find its columns, without rebuke or even disclaimer on the part of the Editors, used to denounce the President's "whole proceeding in the matter of restoration" as an "usurpation not warranted by the Constitution!" Is that Gov. Holden's opinion? Was he, as Provisional Governor, the mere satrap of an usurper and a despot? Does he think so? If not, why had he no word of protestation against the declaration? For ourselves, we do not hold that the legislation of the Convention was the "result" of the President's policy, nor do we believe that that policy was an usurpation. The policy was correct, and the legislation was the "result" of transcending the powers with which the Convention was invested by the President. But we insist that the Standard shall give an explicit answer to our interrogatories.

It is not true, as charged by this writer, that the President's policy "has lost him the confidence and respect of loyal men everywhere."—The Philadelphia Convention, shortly to assemble, and which is called specifically to endorse that policy, will represent two millions of loyal voters at the North. It will be composed of such representative men at the North as Reverdy Johnson, Franklin Pierce, Jno. A. Dix, Washington Hunt and Montgomery Blair, and is sustained and approved by such men as Judge Curtis and Secretaries Seward, Welles, McCulloch, Browning and Randall. So far as the press is an exponent of popular sentiment, the President's policy is daily growing upon the favor of the country, to an extent that promises the speedy ascendancy of conservative counsels in Congress. In the South, it is sustained by such men as Stephens, H. V. Johnson, Sharkey, Gov. Perry, Gov. Parsons and others. In North Carolina, the sole opposition is confined to the few San Salvadoreans, as a cotemporary designates the reduced number of Gov. Holden's adherents and followers. Of the 25,000 votes which he received at the last November election, (half at least of whom voted for him upon the exclusive ground that he was supposed to be the favorite of President Johnson,) not 5,000 could be this day commanded by him, or any one else, in behalf of the infamous Constitutional amendment passed by Congress.

But once more: Does Gov. Holden endorse the assertion of his correspondent?

"The President's whole proceeding, in the matter of restoration, without authority from, and the co-operation of Congress, was a usurpation not warranted by the Constitution!"

The True Grit.

The Hon. Lewis Hanes, member elect to Congress from the Fifth Congressional District of this State, whose honest and consistent Union record throughout the whole of the late war is well known, says of the Howard Amendment:

"As a member elect of Congress, we will stay out forever, and if we cannot make a living by honest toil, we will throw ourself and our family upon the cold charities of the world, before we will ever consent to purchase our rights by advising the adoption of that degrading proposition—the Howard Amendment. If we can do nothing else for our constituents we intend that our course as their representative elect shall at least command their respect, while it shall preserve to us our self respect."

WE COMMENCE to-day, and shall conclude in our next, the report of the Hon. A. J. Rogers, as the minority of the Committee appointed to investigate the charge brought against Mr. Davis, and others, of complicity in the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. We refer the reader to it. It needs no comment. It cannot be read without the deepest disgust and indignation at the enormities it exposes. This report, like Dr. Craven's book, will astonish the world.

TWO RADICAL BILLS KILLED.—The bill for admitting Nebraska as a State, and the resolution to convert the building erected for the orphan's fair into a political wigwam for the Radicals, were very properly killed by the President, who refused to sign them, prior to the adjournment of Congress.

Riot in New Orleans.

From New Orleans we receive, in blood and fire, the first red reaping of the harvest which the Radical madmen have been sowing,—the primary fruits of Emancipation, Bureau and Civil Rights.

It appears that Gov. Wells, of Louisiana, in utter contempt of the decent people of that State, issued a call for what is known as the "Extinction Convention" of 1864. The members of that Convention, pursuant to the call, met on Monday last, in New Orleans, with the avowed purpose of altering the Constitution of the State in defiance of the plain provisions of that instrument itself. The Convention was an extinct body, and had no more power to act upon the subjects they proposed to discuss than any of the citizens of the State.

The members constituting the Convention, which now attempted to take under its authority the Constitution, and to alter and amend it, were, the large majority of them, very disreputable characters. Judge Abell, who was a member of that Convention, but who is now a judge of the First District Court of New Orleans, in a charge in which he denounced the Convention as a defunct body, and spoke of its purposes as revolutionary, thus describes the body itself: "Some of these men were deserters from the Confederate army, others held offices under the Confederacy, civil and military—and others raised guards for its defence. They were traitors—men of no honor and no integrity; fit samples of many of the revolutionists in the Southern States generally."

"The impudence of these traitors and revolutionists greatly excited the people of New Orleans. They (the traitors) boldly proclaimed that they would be sustained by the military authority, in usurping the right to alter or amend the fundamental law of the State, in direct violation of the very Constitution they had framed and the laws they had adopted! Their object no doubt was to establish negro suffrage and a test oath, and, ousting the present Government, to secure the offices to their own revolutionary party. It was also designed to force through the Congressional amendment to the Constitution.

While the boldness of these lawless Radicals greatly incensed the public, the negroes, imbibing a vague idea, suggested no doubt by the corrupt members of the Convention, that that body was what they called a "free Convention," which was to do wonderful things for them, began to act in a very insulting and defiant manner. They got up military drills, and were very noisy and obtrusive with their demonstrations. On the day of the assembling of the Convention they appeared in military order with arms and flags and drums, and a riot was the result, in which, it is said, several of the members of the Convention were killed and wounded; twenty negroes killed and many wounded; on the side of the citizens a little child was accidently killed and several men wounded.

It is strange that the Governor (WELLS) of Louisiana should have issued an order for the holding of this unlawful Convention. The Secretary of State refused to certify orders for filling the vacancies in the Convention. The Governor belongs to the Radicals; but the courts and the entire public voice are against them.

Mayor MUNROE, apprehending a riot, had exhibited a great deal of vigilance and forecaste in preparing for the worst. He telegraphed the President, who assured him instructions would be given the military to sustain the courts. It had been intended to arrest the members by authority of the courts, and it was rumored that the military would prevent the execution of civil process upon them. Indeed, the Federal commander publicly declared that the Convention should not be interrupted.

Whether the instructions of the President reached New Orleans in time or not, the general commanding, BAIRD, stood by with folded arms while the horrors of Monday prevailed. He did not appear with his troops until order was restored, and then "he declared martial law!"

The conduct of the general is strange. We are gratified to see by the Washington Intelligencer, of yesterday, that "the President has sent full instructions to put a prompt end to these dreadful occurrences!"

Judge Ruffin and those for whom he speaks, including Gov. Worth and the Sentinel, have suddenly discovered that the late State Convention had no authority to act, and that its acts "are not entitled to obedience."—Standard.

There is no truth in the foregoing. Nothing that the Sentinel or its Editors have said, or Gov. Worth, so far as we know, authorize the above statement. The Sentinel has expressed, distinctly, that it did not endorse all the views embraced in the letter attributed to Judge Ruffin. The Sentinel never has expressed any objection to the power or right of the President in authorizing the Convention. It has unhesitatingly conceded the validity of the acts of the Convention, done in obedience to the express demands of the President, as a matter of expediency. But it has objected—objected two weeks before the last meeting of the Convention, and uniformly since—to the power and right of the Convention to legislate or pass any organic acts, other than those demanded or prescribed by the President. As to the amended Constitution on its own merits, the Sentinel has invariably, from the first, conceded to it many excellencies, though mixed up with objectionable matter, and that, if the question of the legitimacy of the Convention were fully settled in its favor, the amended Constitution might very safely be ratified by the people, as a far more conservative Constitution, and one better suiting our present interests, than we might hope to obtain by a Convention called at any short period. This has been our position throughout, and is still our opinion. Will the Standard correct its mis-statement. As to Gov. Worth's opinion on the powers of the Convention, we do not know them. As to the general character of the Constitution, on its own merits, his opinion is favorable.

The Tennessee Fraud.

It is said that the Tennessee State authorities have abandoned, for the present, the claim that the Constitutional Amendment had been ratified by the legislature. No certified copy of the amendment has reached the State Department, nor probably ever will. The whole thing was a Radical cheat and swindle throughout.

THE ASSASSINATION PLOT

EXCULPATION OF JEFFERSON DAVIS.

Minority Report of Judiciary Committee.

ASTOUNDING DEVELOPMENTS OF CORRUPTION.

Subornation of Perjury.

Demand for the Trial of Mr. Davis.

Hon. A. J. Rogers, a member of the Judiciary Committee, to which was referred an investigation as to what complicity, if any, Jefferson Davis, Clement C. Clay, George N. Sanders, and others, had in the assassination of Mr. Lincoln, on Saturday made the following minority report to the House of Representatives:

MINORITY REPORT of A. J. Rogers, a member of the Judiciary Committee, to which was referred an investigation as to what complicity, if any, Jefferson Davis, Clement C. Clay, George N. Sanders, and others, had in the assassination of Mr. Lincoln.

When I entered upon the duties of this investigation, I did so with a deep sense of the importance, difficulty, and delicacy of the task imposed upon the committee. The Government, by enormous rewards and the wording of its proclamations, spread over the land a belief that Clement C. Clay, George N. Sanders, Jefferson Davis, and others, were, or might be, implicated in the assassination of the late President Abraham Lincoln. The historic importance and record of the accused were of a character to make the truth of this charge a disgrace, not only to any one particular section of the country, but to the whole of it; and the additional crimes thereafter imputed to them were of that awful nature, which, when committed by men who have sat in its high places, blacken the civilization of the nation in which they were trained and preferred.

On the other hand, if it should turn out that those charges had been lightly made, and without satisfactory evidence as to a probability of their truth, the Government so solemnly making them must needs suffer in the esteem of all good men, as being lacking in coolness during a general excitement, and as sharing a fear which it was its province to dispel.

Knowing the entire unreliability of any testimony whose origin cannot be traced beyond a professional detective, especially when large rewards stand out in placarded prospective, I determined, as far as in me lay, to give to every shred of evidence presented as thorough an examination as I might be capable of bestowing upon it; and in this spirit, with no desire to convict or to acquit capable of mastering my wish to educe the truth, I tried to ascertain it; and this report is the result of the effort.

For some reason or reasons not fully stated, the majority of the committee determined to throw in my way every possible impediment, not only in any assistance I might try to render them in what I considered a common task upon us by the House, but even in my working out any conclusion for myself, when it became evident that in this thing they not only would have none of my assistance or fellowship, but resented deeply any attempt of mine to render any.

I felt I must work out my own convictions, not with the committee, but in spite of it. The papers were put away from me, locked in boxes hidden; and when I asked to see them, I was told, day after day, and week after week, that I could not. All sorts of reasons were assigned for this, sometimes one, sometimes another; and finally, I was told, I should not.

The House will recollect I brought the matter before it, and that the Speaker decided I was not entitled to see the papers on which my opinions, as member of that committee, must be based, till such time as the other members of the committee chose to allow me by saying they were done with them; and it was not till twelve o'clock yesterday that I was allowed freely to look through them and derive any knowledge, based upon examination, for the purposes of this report. It was said the interests of the Government required that none should see these papers save and only Mr. Boutwell, the honorable member from Massachusetts, who was preparing the majority report. I felt hurt at this, but I should not have alluded to this strange action on the part of the committee, but that it was necessary to explain any lack of brevity and clearness that may be apparent in portions, or in the whole of this report, which awaiting, the right to see the papers, or, rather, the power, I did not commence till too late. It, therefore, this report be longer than it need to have been, or if it be less clear than such a report ought to be, the cause must be found in those reasons which induced my colleagues of the committee to endeavor to keep me in the dark till it was too late for me to use the light.

As the members of the committee are members of this House, I will not presume to say they had any fear of an investigation of their doings in their examinations. As they are gentlemen, and bound by that character not to hide the truth, or any part of it, I will not say they kept me in the dark to the last hour to prevent my making any report at all; but this I must say, in justice to myself, that had they allowed me to use the usual privileges from which they excluded me, this report would have been of more benefit to the cause of justice and of truth than I can now hope to make it. I should also have accompanied the deductions of this report with ampler extracts of the testimony, showing conclusively the existence and fostering, the hiring and the paying, of the most wicked combination of perjurers the world has ever known.

The main portions of the testimony alleged to connect Mr. Davis and others with the assassination of Mr. Lincoln were all taken in the absence of Mr. Davis and of any counsel for him and of any person capable of cross-examining and explaining the testimony. In the words of the late Attorney General, "Most of the evidence upon which they are based was obtained ex parte, without notice to the accused, and whilst they were in custody in military prisons. Their publication might wrong the Government"—mark, the Government, not the accused. The Secretary of War, February 7th, 1866, writes to the President that the publication of the reports of the Judge Advocate General on this matter "is incompatible with the public interests." This report, in the testimony it quotes, will show that the interests of the country would never have suffered by the dispensing with illegal secrecy, but that the interests and fame of the Judge Advocate General himself would suffer in the eyes of all the truth-loving and justice-seeking people on earth.

Secrecy has surrounded and shrouded, not to say protected, every step of these examinations, and even in the committee room I seemed to be acting with a sort of secret council of inquisition, itself directed by an absent vice inquisitor and grand inquisitor too.

How such an un-American mode of procedure for the discovery and prosecution of crimes cognizable by the civil tribunals of the country could ever exist in it, I find it impossible to fully understand or explain.

The substance of the testimony rendered before the committee, viva voce and documentary, is fresh in my memory, and also the result of some of the investigations made into its credibility. It was in ascertaining the latter that I found myself forced to travel over the nebulous and extended region of the so-called "assassin trial."

There are two reports of this trial—one approved by Mr. Holt, revised by Mr. Burnett, and the Associated Press report, published by Peterson & Co., of Philadelphia. Whatever of suspicion may naturally attach to the former, none can to the latter.

It will be remembered by the House that persons were hung by the unconstitutional tribunal referred to, and that it was before this house, court, commission, or whatever you may choose to call it, that Jefferson Davis was, after the military manner, charged with "combining, confederating, and conspiring" with Booth, Surratt, et al. The specification to the charge went still further, for that accused them with inciting and encouraging John Wilkes Booth et al.

At this trial, the first and most important of a long tissue of falsehoods was introduced to connect Mr. Davis with the assassination.

The parties unconstitutionally killed through the subservient instrumentality of this so-called court or commission were all charged with conspiring with Davis, and it did seem strange to to me that neither they nor their counsel made such examination of the witnesses to this as might have been expected. The reason was obvious enough, however.

In the progress of that trial, every precaution taught by ages of experience and sanctified by authority was set aside.

The prisoners, said to have been incited to murder, by bullet, by infection, by arson, and by poison, by Jefferson Davis, were brought to hear these charges and specifications with irons upon them—with irons, too, of an unusual construction, irritating and painful, well calculated to distract their attention from the sayings of the military prosecutor. The House will remember that since the trial of Granbourne, in 1696, tried for conspiring against the life of the King of England, for raising a rebellion in aid of a foreign enemy, no prisoner has ever been tried in irons before a legitimate court any where that English is spoken. The Chief Justice of England said: "Look you, keeper; you should take off the prisoners' irons when they are at the bar, for they should stand at their case when they are tried."

But the parties alleged to have been incited by Mr. Davis did not so stand, but stood in constrainment and in pain, with their heads buried in a sort of sack devised to prevent their seeing! In this plight, from dark cells, they were brought to be charged with having been incited by Mr. Davis, and they pleaded not guilty.

As the congressional committee believe secrecy necessary, as the Attorney General that was recommends it, and the Secretary of War orders it, so that court practiced it, and it was in secret, with closed doors, the perjured reporter present, that the chief testimony alleged to implicate Mr. Davis was taken; and this testimony would not now be publicly known had it not been published in Cincinnati through Pitman's violation of his oath.

Having arrived at the manner in which this testimony was taken, there now remained for me only to ascertain how far it could be relied on, and what it professed to prove. It is a theory of courts military that when the accused are unprovided with counsel, the prosecutor, technically termed "the judge advocate," shall defend the accused as well as plead the accusation,—in fact, be a sort of amicus curiæ not only to the court but to the accused. Messrs. Davis, Clay, Thompson, et. al. had no counsel, of course, and the only lawyer for the other accused, capable of grasping the subject, was insulted by the court in a manner so repugnant to personal self respect and professional dignity, that he left it, and in lieu of cross-examining testimony was forced to confine himself to the production of an argument against the constitutionality of the court, an argument whose soundness has been endorsed by the decision of the Supreme Court in the habeas corpus case of Milligan, Bowles and Horsey. The lawyer so insulted and so feared was a Senator of the United States, whose reputation is second to none in this country,—once an Attorney General of the United States, and for years the leader of its bar.

That I should be zealously excluded by the committee from investigating testimony Reverdy Johnson was thus prevented from testing; that the gentleman from Massachusetts, and the chairman of the committee, should use towards me the very same measures and means adopted by Generals Hunter and Harris must, it would seem, be due to their acting under similar motives.

It was, therefore, natural that in trying to investigate the charge of complicity made against Mr. Davis, this continual attempt at secrecy, these unusual means to prevent any searching examination into the reliability of the testimony, should lead me to suspect that these charges were hastily and lightly made, and that the President had been misinformed and wilfully or recklessly misled when he fulminated a charge so dire against men so prominent, and just then the observed of the nation. This secrecy on the part of the court, this avoidance of legitimate scrutiny, led me to conclude that my first duty was to ascertain the character of the witnesses, to sift it thoroughly, and to ascertain by what, if any, motives they were actuated in the delivery of their oral evidence and written affidavits.

Sanford Conover, the principal witness and originator of all the oral testimony relevant procured by the Bureau of Military Justice to establish the guilt of Davis, was examined by the Committee of the Judiciary. The method of his examination was this: The testimony he had given at the mock trial on the 20th day of May, 1865, was read to him, and he said it was all true. In that testimony he was asked, being duly sworn:

Q.—State your full name and present place of residence.

A.—Sanford Conover, Montreal, Canada.

On the 8th of June I find he swore "upon the Holy Evangelists" that his name was not Sanford Conover, but James Watson Wallace; and in the same positive manner he denies under oath in Canada all he swore to in Washington, and ends by making the following proposition:

"Five hundred dollars reward will be given for the arrest, so that I can bring to punishment in Canada, the infamous and perjured scoundrel who recently personated me under the name of Sanford Conover, and deposed to a tissue of falsehoods before the Military Commission at Washington.

"JAMES W. WALLACE."

Conover having finally admitted that he and Wallace were one man with two names, and Wallace swearing that Conover is a scoundrel, whose testimony before the Military Commission was but a tissue of falsehoods, might well relieve me from all analysis of the testimony given by him until such crimes as perjury in two courts, delivered from any motive, becomes a certificate of truth-telling in the other.

It were needless to detail here what Conover alias Wallace deposed to at the mock trial, and that is the testimony of his which Mr. Holt forwarded to the Judiciary Committee. A garbled report of it by Pitman, bearing the unsatisfactory authentication of Mr. Holt and Burnett, will be found in Pitman's report, page 28. A report correct to a word, taken by the reporters of the Senate corps, and given by Holt to the Associated Press, will be found in the Associated Press copy of "The Conspiracy Trial," published in Philadelphia by T. B. Peterson & Bros., page 137.

The testimony of Conover, had it been credible, would establish the guilt of Jefferson Davis, George N. Sanders, Jacob Thompson, Clement C. Clay, Dr. Blackburn, Beverly Tucker, Wm. C. Cleary, Lewis Castleman, the Rev. M. Cameron, Mr. Porterfield, Dr. M. A. Pallin, Captain Magruder, Gen. Frost, and Gen. Carroll, with whom, he says, he was intimately acquainted in Montreal, Canada, where he had resided from October, 1864. He says he saw Surratt on the 7th of April, 1865, describes him, and says he heard a conversation between him and Jacob Thompson in the room of the latter, whence it appeared that Surratt had brought Thompson despatches from Richmond, one from Benjamin, and also a letter in cipher from Mr. Davis.—"Previous to that," says Conover, "I had had a conversation with Mr. Thompson relative to the plot to assassinate Mr. Lincoln and his Cabinet, and I had been invited by Mr. Thompson to participate in the enterprise." Thompson laid his hand on the despatches brought by Surratt, Conover asserts, and said: "This makes the thing all right," referring to the assent of the rebel authorities. Mr. Lincoln, Mr. Johnson, the Secretaries of War and of State, Judge Chase and General Grant, were to be the victims. Conover asserts his first interview with Thompson was in February, 1865, and that at that interview Thompson said to him "Some of our boys are going to play a grand joke on Abe and Andy." The joke Thompson explained to Conover at this first interview was to kill them; and at this same interview, Conover says that Thompson explained to him that the killing of a tyrant was no murder—that it was only a removal from office. Thompson told Conover, too, that he had commissioned Booth, and all engaged to do the killing would receive commissions, and if they escaped to Canada they could not be successfully claimed under the extradition treaty.

Conover states further, that the very day of the assassination, or the day before, he had a conversation with Cleary, at the St. Lawrence Hotel, Montreal. They spoke of the rejoicings in the North over the surrender of Lee, and Cleary, according to Conover, said they would put the laugh on the other side of their mouths in a day or two, and adds Conover, "The conspiracy was talked of at that time about as commonly as one would speak of the weather."

Conover asserts also, that Sanders spoke to him freely about Booth, and feared the latter would make a fizzle, he being reckless and dissipated.

Conover said he was all this time correspondent of the New York Tribune.

Conover further deposed to a proposition being made to destroy the Croton dam at New York, to distress manufactories, and to distress the people generally, to Thompson's saying that the whole city would be destroyed by fire.

Conover said he saw neither Payne nor Atzerodt in Canada, nor did he ever hear the name of Mary E. Surratt. He said that while in Canada he went by the name of James Watson Wallace.

Mr. Thompson had told Conover, he says, that he thought the assassination of Mr. Lincoln and the Cabinet would meet the approval of the Government at Richmond; that was in February, and in April, when Surratt arrived from Richmond, Mr. Thompson, says Conover, referred to the despatches brought as having furnished the assent.

Having thus testified to a connection between the Government at Richmond and the assassins at Washington, via Canada, Conover next testifies to the infection plot.

He says one Dr. Blackburn packed a number of trunks with infected clothing. Blackburn represented himself as an agent of the C. S. A., as Thompson did. Blackburn offered, according to Conover, to pay several thousands of dollars to Mr. John Cameron if he would accompany him to Bermuda to take charge of goods infected with yellow fever and bring them to New York city. Cameron, fearing the fever for himself, refused. Jacob Thompson and Mr. Cleary, Conover knows, approved of, and were interested, in this design, and he thinks Lewis Sanders was present when Blackburn spoke of this enterprise.

In June (or rather January, according to the correct report of his testimony,) the idea of poisoning the Croton reservoir was discussed. Blackburn knew the capacity thereof, and had calculated the amount of strychnine and other poisons necessary. Thompson thought they could not get enough poison together without exciting suspicion. Blackburn thought he could. Dr. Pallin, of St. Louis, Dr. Stuart Robinson, Lewis Sanders and Cleary were present at this discussion, approved it, and Dr. Pallin and others thought it could be managed from Europe.

Conover says he saw Surratt in Canada three or four days after the assassination, when, hearing officers were on his track, he fled.

Then says Conover:

"When Mr. Thompson received the despatch from Richmond in April assenting to the assassination, there were present Mr. Surratt, General Carroll, of Tennessee, I think Mr. Castleman, and I believe there were one or two others in the room, sitting farther back. General Carroll participated in the conversation, and expressed himself as more anxious that Mr. Johnson should be killed than anybody else. He said if the damned prick louse was not killed by somebody he would kill him himself. His expression was a word of contempt for a tailor, so I have always understood. At the interview it was distinctly said that the enterprise of assassinating the President was fully confirmed by the rebel authorities at Richmond."

Booth, says Conover, went by the nickname of Pet, and Conover adds, that he saw him in conversation with Thompson and Sanders, and heard him so called by Cleary.

Conover, on the 27th of June, being sworn, was asked if the following, testimony was given by him on October 19th, 1865, in the St. Albans case.

He said, Yes, but that it contained the testimony of other Wallaces who testified.

James Watson Wallace on his oath says: "I am a native of Virginia, one of the Confederate States. I resided in Jefferson, in said State. I left that State in October. I know Jas. A Seddon was Secretary of War last year, &c., &c.

"When I was in Virginia I lived in my own house until I was burned out, and my family were turned out by the Northern soldiers.

[Signed.] "J. WATSON WALLACE."

The counsel of the United States objected to the whole of this evidence as illegal, irrelevant, and foreign to the issue and consequently declined to cross-examine.

(CONCLUDED TO-MORROW.)

A mass meeting of the Irish citizens of the District of Columbia has been held in Washington to repudiate any alliance with or sympathy for the Radicals assaults on the Constitution and the rights of the South.

The population of St. Louis, according to a census just published, is two hundred and twenty-seven thousand. This is an increase since 1855 of seventy-nine thousand one hundred and twenty-six.

Wall Street, New York.

June 1, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1865. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident.

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder; I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal; I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2nd Avenue.

J. HARDY,
119 Georick Street.

Extract from Various Letters:

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears and the noise left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar; your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Salve by return mail."

I have over 200 such Testimonals

As this, but want of space compels me to conclude

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.—We learn from the Nortolk Day Book, that great energy and enterprise are manifested in building up this little city. Several structures are going up and encouraging manifestations of new life and vigor are exhibiting themselves.

LARGE CABBAGE.—Colonel W. C. Lankford, of Franklin county, North Carolina, has grown cabbages the present season which weigh fourteen pounds and five ounces.

WE ARE pleased to chronicle the re-appearance of the Fayetteville News, after a short suspension.

The negro, Henry Query, who committed a rape on Thursday last, on a respectable lady in Cabarrus, we are glad to learn has been arrested through the energy of the Charlotte police and lodged in jail.

ALFRED STANLY, Esq., an excellent citizen and worthy man, died recently at his residence in Beaufort county. He was a brother of the Hon. Edward Stanly.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE.—A correspondent of the North Carolina Presbyterian says that the Trustees of this College, at the late annual meeting, with great unanimity devised liberal things for the institution over which they have been placed as guardians. The funds of the College are in a much better condition than some of its friends at one time anticipated. The Board felt that they would be safe in adding to the number of able and experienced Professors which they already have in the Faculty. They therefore appointed a meeting on the 12th day of September next, for the purpose of electing two additional Professors.

FLORIDA AND THE PHILADELPHIA CONVENTION.—Gov. Walker, of Florida, has issued an address, in which he says:

"Having received satisfactory evidence that the constitutional Union people of the State of Florida, who favor the reconstruction policy of President Johnson, comprising almost the entire voting population of the State, desire to be represented in the National Constitutional Union Convention, that will convene in Philadelphia, on the 14th of August next, and that on account of the want of time, and to save the expense and inconvenience of meeting in State Convention, they advise that their delegates to said convention be appointed by myself: Now, therefore, I do hereby appoint the following persons to be delegated to said convention, to wit:

From West Florida.—B. D. Wright, O. M. Avery, Geo. Walker, Geo. S. Hawkins, F. B. Pitman, J. L. Dunnel.

From Middle Florida—J. B. Love, Robt. Davidson, W. Cad, J. L. McKibbin, Geo. W. Scott, R. H. Gamble, M. D. Pany, Thomas Randall.

SUPPRESSED LETTERS.—It is whispered in Washington that the President is about to publish to the world a lot of letters written to him while he was Governor of Tennessee. These letters will "show up" in no enviable light a number of distinguished men in the North who are just now bitterly opposing the policy of Mr. Johnson. Mr. Sumner has had a long private interview with the President for the purpose, so says rumor, of dissuading him from making public these letters, for it is said that this Radical Senator is deeply interested in not having them brought before the eyes of the public. The correspondent who gives the above gossip thinks that something more definite will come to light in the course of a week or two.—Nashville Gazette.

A. H. STEPHENS AND H. V. JOHNSON TO GO TO PHILADELPHIA.—At a convention of delegates from the several counties comprising the fourth Congressional district of Georgia, held at Macon, on the 25th of July, it was Resolved, That we appoint A. H. Stephens, of Taliaferro, H. V. Johnson, of Richmond, A. H. Chappell, of Muscogee, and Hon. D. A. Walker, of Whitfield, as principals, and David Irwin, of Cobb, W. Hope Hull, of Clark, Wm. Law, of Chatham, and C. B. Cole, of Bibb, as alternates, to represent the State at large in said Convention; and, considering the difficulties of obtaining a State convention, we recommend the other district conventions to confirm these nominations as such representatives.

A gentleman, well known in this metropolis, was always complaining to his father-in-law of his wife's temper. At last papa-in-law, becoming very wearied of these endless grumblings, and being a bit of a wag, replied: "Well, my dear fellow, if I hear of her tormenting you any more, I shall disinherit her." The husband never again complained.—[Home Journal.

Public Meeting in Cleveland.

A public meeting, largely attended, was held in Shelby, Cleveland county, N. C., on Monday, July 23rd., 1866, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the District Convention to be held in Asheville on the 28th.

On motion of Major Cabniss, Dr. W. J. T. Miller was called to the chair. On further motion of the same gentleman, Mr. J. A. Ware was requested to act as Secretary.

Col. L. M. McAfee then, according to request, explained the object of the meeting; after which the following gentlemen were apointed by the Chairman to report resolutions for the meeting, viz: Col. J. R. Logan, Col. L. M. McAfee, Maj. H. D. Cabniss and Capt. P. Durham.

At the request of the Chairman, Maj. G. W. Whitfield delivered a short address to the audience; but was interrupted by the return of the committee, who reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That whilst, as Southern men, we fully appreciate our present depressed and unhappy condition, still, as prudent and practical men, we submit with due resignation to the grievances under which we labor, relying upon the efforts of conservative men North, upon time and a returning sense of justice to our oppressors, to secure to the people of the Southern States the Consititutional rights and liberties of which they are deprived.

Resolved, That we regard President Andrew Johnson as the representative man of the constitutional liberties of the people of the United States, as our chief hope of preserving what is left of the rights of the States, as presenting, in his present position and policy, the main practical rallying point for the restoration of peace, concord and confidence, between the North and the South; and that it is the duty of all conservative men, without regard to section or past party affiliation, to sustain and support him in his efforts to return to the old landmarks of principle, and to restore the Union upon those limitations of power and equality among all the States, designed and provided for by the authors of the Constitution in 1789.

Resolved, That we approve of the Convention proposed to be held in Philadelphia, on the 14th. of August next, to be composed of conservative men from all the States, and that we hail the assembling of said Convention as the harbinger of better and more happy times, when the civil strife which has so long scourged our country shall give place to peace and harmony, and, under a restored Union, we shall all start anew on a course of prosperity and happiness.

Resolved, That the Chairman of this meeting appoint ten delegates to represent the county of Cleveland in the District Convention in Asheville on the 28th., for the purpose of selecting delegates from this Congressional District to the Philadelphia Convention.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be printed in the Raleigh Sentinel and Charlotte Democrat and Times.

The Chairman then appointed the following gentlemen to represent this county in the District Convention:

Col. L. M. McAfee, Col. L. McBraner, Maj. G. W. Whitefield, Capt. P. Durham, Capt. J. Gidney, G. Dickson, Esq., J. Z. Falls, Esq., W. P. Love, Esq., and S. M. Ramsour, Esq.

On motion, the meeting then adjourned.

Dr. W. J. T. MILLER, Chairman.

J. A. WARE, Secretary.

From Fortress Monroe—Negroes Going North—Coffins for Federal Dead—The Ship Pennsylvania.

FORT MONROE, July 30.—The steamer George Appold touched here this afternoon, on her way to Boston, and received on board a number of colored people, for whom occupation has been procured in Boston.

The United States tug Decatur, in the service of the United States burial corps, arrived here to-day with a barge in tow, having on board a large number of coffins for City Point. Over twenty thousand coffins are now stored in Washington, awaiting shipment to the various cemeteries designated for the burial of Union soldiers.

The old United States ship Pennsylvania, for many years the receiving ship on this station, which was sunk at the commencement of the late war, is soon to be raised for the purpose of procuring the valuable metal contained in her hull.

The Bounty Bill.

This bill, as amended, is not so costly as the House bill. It will involve an expenditure of something less than $100,000,000,—about one-third of the expenditure of the House bill.—It is a little better, therefore, than the House bill, but bad enough. By it a hundred millions will be disbursed altogether at the North, the South paying her part and receiving nothing. It is gratifying to learn that the second section of the bill is inoperative and may affect the whole.

The "Wigwam" for the Philadelphia Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—The wigwam for the meeting of the National Union Convention will be situated in front of Girard College, and is being rapidly but substantially constructed.

Accommodations will be afforded fifteen hundred delegates, with committee rooms, &c., and about nine thousand spectators. The place of meeting can be reached by three or four lines of passenger railroads.

From the Richmond Dispatch.

NEGRO MUSTERS STOPPED.—The following order was issued yesterday by General Terry which will put a stop to the nightly drills of the negroes on Navy Hill, and relieve our citizens of the annoyance of having them marching through the streets at all hours of the night. We are glad to see that this order has been issued, for we feel confident that if the drills had been persisted in much trouble would have grown out of them:

By an act of the last Congress a commission was created, charged with an inquiry into the question of providing a substitute for cotton in the fibre of flax or something else. The commissioners were no more successful in their pursuit than the people have been in trying a substitute for brains in Congressmen. After spending nine thousand five hundred dollars, they report that cotton is king.

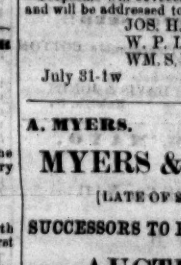
Ayer's Sarsaparilla



IS a concentrated extract of the choice root, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effectual antidote for diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. Such a remedy is surely wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove, as this has, of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found in the following complaints:

Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Sores, Skin Diseases, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Eruptions, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, &c.

Syphilis or Venereal Disease is expelled from the system by the prolonged use of this Sarsaparilla, and the patient is left in comparative health.

Do not discard this invaluable medicine, because you have been imposed upon by something pretending to be Sarsaparilla, while it was not. When you have used Ayer's—then, and not till then, will you know the virtues of Sarsaparilla. For minute particulars of the diseases it cures, we refer you to Ayer's American Almanac, which the agents below named will furnish gratis to all who call for it.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS, for the cure of Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Heartburn arising from Disordered Stomach, Pain or Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, and for a Dinner Pill.

They are sugar coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best Aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by

per hour are easily made. The machine is built entirely of Iron, very compact and easily transported. It works VENEERS, STAVES and BOX STUFF, and out of the same number of bolts of timber, one third more Shingles are made than can be done by the Sawing Machines. All the saw dust is saved by the Empire and goes into the Shingles.
